Self Reflection

Better meetings

What have you done so far to improve the meetings in your company? What worked and what wasn't so effective? How would you take things further?

Do you think an overall restructuring of meetings in your company will be beneficial, reevaluating the possibility to switch some forms of cooperating to an asynchronous mode?

Should you invest in improved technical capabilities?

Is there a need to introduce new rules and make them known to the whole team?